Section 3: Segment 3

Topic 1. Are You More Like Jesus Or Judas?

Christ-likeness

I find myself rejoicing when I encounter people who are wholehearted for Jesus.

I consider it a privilege to defend the reputation of those who follow Jesus.

I avoid getting close to those who are lukewarm about their faith. Their habitual excuses only disguise their disobedience.

I want to complete all our Lord has prepared for me to accomplish in His Name.

When I'm with unbelievers, I present the same "me" as when I'm with people who love Jesus.

My activity in the Kingdom of God is spurred on by my absolute confidence that there is a heaven and a hell. I want to pour myself out by bringing to Jesus as many as will respond to His Spirit and come to Him.

I am in my current faith community because:

They have a deep regard for righteousness.

Their faith enactment and lifestyles are

Judas Identity

I find myself making (or thinking) snide remarks about others who are more devoted to following Christ than I am.

I find myself agreeing with or repeating false accusations and slander spoken by others against someone who is devoted to Jesus.

I'm OK with Christians who don't show any deep regard for following Jesus.

I have little concern about any purposes our Father has ordained for me. My attendance at services is the major expression of my religious life.

When I'm with unbelievers, I become more worldly in my words and activities.

I pay little attention to the eternal outcome of my life or anyone else's.

I am in my current faith community because:

I agree with their creed.

I enjoy the worship service.

They don't hold me accountable to fol-

built on the Word of God.

__ They are strong role models to help me follow Jesus.

__ I get up early to spend time with my Lord and to glean guidance and application from His Word.

__ The Biblical standards I live by and teach my family are higher than those my parents set.

__ The choices I've made in my life to follow Jesus have stretched me in many ways.

__ I enjoy encouraging others who follow Jesus wholeheartedly.

low Jesus.

__ Your own reason(s) _____

__ I don't generally spend time with the Lord or in His Word.

__ The Biblical standards I live by and teach my family are lower than those my parents set.

__ My religious life is more of a convenience or obligation than a sacrifice.

__ I subtly dissuade those who are more zealous for God than I am.
